Maximilian in Mexico

Our late dispatches announced the arrival at Vera Cruz of Archduke Maximilian, now nominally Emperor of Mexico Before his departure from the land of intrigue he had appointed so many of the officers of his new Mexican Government as were considered necessary to give it a name even if the local habitation were yet to be acquired His claim to a throne on this continent is based upon the resolution of the Mexican Nobles, and the up official and purely assumed vote of a small minority of the Mexican people endorsing that resolution Should he succeed in becoming the ruler of his adopted country by virtue of the war power of France—for it is by that alone his life is secure in Mexico—he will always be regarded as the base usurper of a seat to which there is no hereditary claim Recognized and mentioned by the court journals of Europe as an already enthroned sovereign, and receiving abroad that distinction which the subjects of a monarchy ever pay to crowned heads, he has tasted the glory, and now comes to try the dangerous experiment of securing dominion The extent of internal commotions and the bitterness of deadly conflicts which must inevitably follow, are themes for speculation He has never, even through the well armed avant couriers of France come in contact with a majority of the Mexican population, and those places wherein elections were held under the shadow of French bayonet points, have pronounced so equivocally in his favor that it is deemed impolitic to publish the results in an official dispatch The great majority of the people of Mexico will repel any overtures he may make, and the expense of a standing army, to enforce his rule, will exceed any revenue at his command, even to the impoverishment of the entire country he essays to govern.

So much for the present prospects of Emperor Maximilian First If we may accredit uncontradicted reports from the East, the French army now in Mexico is to be soon but gradually withdrawn, and succeeded by a "Foreign Legion" composed of 6,000 Austrian volunteers Were anything more needed to intensify the hatred which many of the more intelligent and leading citizens of Mexico now entertain for the European invaders, it will be found in the advent of Austrian troops to maintain the dominion of a French appointed master Ideas of a democratic republic are too correct and prevalent among the common people for them to submit quietly to such outrages, and the limited force at Maximilian's command must sooner or later be conquered instead of conquerors The Mexicans have embraced late opportunities to learn somewhat of the art of war, and double the number now contemplated of European troops will be found inadequate to protect the throne and preserve submission in the realm

The aggressive policy which it is broadly hinted by semi-official French papers that Napoleon will pursue towards the Pacific United States after Mexico is secured, need give us no uneasiness Abraham Lincoln will be re-elected, the South will be conquered, the war will be ended, and harmony and good government re-established upon a permanent basis throughout the length and breadth of our domain before Mexico is subdued and quietly ruled by an Emperor of French creation, then, with a population united in sentiment and sympathy, the insolence of those enemies of our Government may wisely fear the award to which their contempt for our avowed policy in regard to Mexico will justly entitle them

COMPLETION OF TELEGRAPH TO CELILO—The first message was transmitted from the Dalles to Celilo on Tuesday, over the wires put up by the enterprise and for the convenience of the Oregon Steam Navigation Company They deserve great credit for the continued and costly improvements by which they make a trip to the mines both comfortable and pleasant

FERRY BOAT SUNK—The Walla Walla Statesman says that on the 14th inst, the ferry boat at Kellogg's ferry, sunk with 9 000 pounds of freight, the property of James McAuliff who was en route for Kootenai About $500 was saved in a damaged condition, but $3 000 worth is a total loss

ANOTHER GOLD EXCITEMENT—A gold ledge has been discovered on the Peralta reserve three miles from Oakland, California and the road has been "staked off" for nearly a mile This claim is on San Francisco Bay, opposite the city

Letter from Auburn.

FROM OUR REGULAR CORRESPONDENT

Auburn June 1 1864

EDITOR OREGONIAN

Ba [illegible] tion with the news that she has met the enemy [illegible] they have after a hard fought battle to acknowledge a Union victory of some 12 [illegible] the county Just as I have [illegible] to tell the [illegible] here [illegible] [illegible] heart [illegible] the Union

[illegible] think will [illegible] vor Judge Williams to fill the vacant seat in [illegible] S Senate [illegible] but little I know of the [illegible]

[illegible] portion of [illegible] the [illegible] I [illegible] blame them a bit [illegible] my self

[illegible] the Union ticket [illegible] I am told the official canvass will be in de [illegible]

Auburn gave [illegible] Union majority and elected all save the Justice [illegible] had the nomination [illegible] have been elected [illegible] but many scratched [illegible] from past experience of his incompetency

M [illegible] Clark's Creek [illegible] should have all the credit for the decided majority [illegible] the child is born, and the candidates [illegible] trying to forget they ever wanted office though many of them [illegible] office badly and expected to get it very surely

I have just returned from Owyhee after an absence of two weeks and during the month I resided there [illegible] a good look at the country and travelled over the ledges and I have [illegible] the conclusion that [illegible] Jordan Creek will rank [illegible] the record of [illegible] its full share to the world's treasure Or Fino's [illegible] and sold for $100 per foot [illegible] I was there and the sight of some of the ore that was given me at the discovery shaft would be a curiosity in any country rich as it was in gold and silver Morning Star was the first rich ledge struck and retains its rank among the most valuable ledges there

Whiskey is being sunk down on, and sustains the reputation before acquired Allison is supposed to be a southern continuation of the Whiskey ledge and is nearly five feet wide and very rich War Eagle is a large ledge that is gradually becoming very much esteemed Perhaps the latest great excitement concerns the Home Ticket a newly found ledge which at a depth of twelve feet discovers a three foot wide ledge of pay rock, with a vein of rich sulphurets four inches wide that is immensely rich The two proprietors are digging out some 400 pounds per day of this and shipping to San Francisco to astonish the natives

The Silver Legion is a large ledge three feet wide on the surface from croppings of which the discoverers pounded out $280 in one day with a hand mortar but such pockets are not very plentiful

Owyhee [illegible] Jordan creek, fully equals my expectations and several districts south eight to twenty miles show wider ledges and good silver rock, also containing gold but of a different character of quartz Certainly this section offers to capital the surest opening for investment with profit to be found on this coast

Jordan Creek possesses quite an amount of timber for firewood and lumber for many years and if the ledges are smaller than the Comstock, but rich in proportion, as appears to be the case the saving will be immense not only in having to extract less rock, but in dispensing with the greater part of the timbering necessary in the case of the Gould & Curry mines All the ledges sunk on average three feet at twenty five feet down and are steadily widening and no instance occurs where a ledge does not show rich rock when gone down on Many ledges are claimed and recorded that are no doubt without value and Jordan Creek possesses its full share of wild cat, but there are half a doz on known ledges rich enough to build up any country, and there are many others that promise to be as good when prospected I have not attempted in this letter to name or allude to a tenth part of them

Two mills are in process of erection and will be working early in September and when the report goes forth of good results from their first working then you may look for a rush of "feet" seekers to Jordan Creek All there are anxiously awaiting the result of the practical working of the ore though no one doubts that that result will be favorable when the test is fairly made

I could tell you much of that region, but this letter is long enough for the present

Oregon must look out or California will complete a road from Red Bluff already begun that will secure for her all the advantages of trade with the Idaho mines and leave Oregon out in the cold waiting for customers

CONDITION OF THE PRISONERS RELEASED FROM RICHMOND—It was announced some days since that a large number of the Union prisoners recently released from Richmond had been sent to the Jarvis Hospital in Baltimore for medical treatment A correspondent of the Philadelphia Inquirer, who has visited this hospital, describes the condition of the men He says

"I had numerous interviews with many of these prisoners, all of whom gave evidence of having been fairly educated One venerable old gentleman, named Daniel Spear, from East Tennessee fifty seven years of age, had been incarcerated for illegal political offences, or in other words, because he was a Union man and loved his country

"Not content with depriving him of all his property and driving his wife and children from a comfortable home, they almost sapped the foundation of his life by cruel incarceration He appeared to be a truthful, honest farmer, and declared he saw a Union prisoner deliberately shot dead by a heartless guard, whilst quietly eating his scanty ration at the prison window

"Another one told me that in General Hospital No 2 in Richmond, whilst there was five hundred and eighty prisoners brought in during a single month alive, five hundred and fifty five were taken out dead in the same

"Sergeant Thomas James, of the Regular U S Army who acted as steward or apothecary in the same hospital, from the 1st of January to the first of March says that of twenty seven hundred patients in that time there were the unprecedented number of fourteen hundred deaths, the greater portion of whom could have been saved with proper care

"In Belle Island the suffering was unparalleled I saw many—a dozen or more—who had their feet fingers [illegible] frozen off whilst exposed to the severe weather in this desolate abode To keep them from freezing entire they were often compelled to huddle dozens together and change positions as those under got warm, and those outside began to freeze Death, the dead and dying grew familiar to all and many prayed for a hastening of the hour of dissolution It was no uncommon thing to see twenty, thirty or forty and even fifty dead bodies carried out in one day [illegible] to behold them strewn around like carcasses of dumb animals

"Dogs and rats were caught when opportunity afforded and eaten [illegible] this island as choice morsels and no [illegible] was [illegible] What [illegible] of the many gifts of provisions sent from home [illegible] with extreme [illegible] confined here [illegible] ted, save that they saw them at times eagerly devoured by the Rebels [illegible]

"I heard many tales of horror in which there was a universal concurrence of sentiment from these prisoners all of which [illegible] with their forlorn condition [illegible] fail in bringing conviction that they have been inhumanly treated I speak from seeing and know what I assert

THE FOURTH IN WALLA WALLA—The citizens of Walla Walla will have a [illegible] celebration of Independence Day Rev P B Chamberlain, to deliver an oration and Hon A L Brown, Reader of the Declaration of Independence. They are making preparations for a good time

The Captured Works said to be stronger than those at Chattanooga.

DEATH OF REBEL GENERAL POLK CONFIRMED.

Rebels Report that Sheridan is Defeated with loss of 500 Prisoners

NEW YORK June 15—A call has been issued for the Union Conservative National Convention to meet at Chicago July 4 signed by P [illegible] Stevens Secretary

The World's Washington special says that an informal meeting of the Union members of Congress was held to consider the repeal of the three hundred dollar exemption clause many deemed it unjust [illegible] The impression prevails that it will not pass the House very soon for within a few days a draft of two hundred thousand men is expected to be ordered

WASHINGTON June 16—The Petersburg Express has a dispatch from Lynchburg to the effect that the Federals under Hunter entered Lexington, 25 miles south of Staunton His strength is estimated to be 16 000

The Richmond Enquirer, of the 11th has intelligence that Crook with 8000 men was at Amherst Court House only 14 miles north of Lynchburg He had destroyed the bridge over the river at Arrington Lynchburg is defended by a much larger force than the Yankees anticipated

LOUISVILLE, June 14—A dispatch to Gen Carrington reports that George Jessie with 200 men was at New Castle His force was made up of desperate characters collected through the country for the purpose of stealing horses We expect to bag the whole gang

The Frankfort and Lexington cars will resume their trips to morrow,

The Louisville road has not been interrupted

CINCINNATI, June 16—A correspondence from Flemingsburg ky dated the 15th says that the remnant of Morgan's command to the number of 700 passed this morning en route probably for Pound Gap He admits a loss of 1000 at Cynthiana, and the Union force still pursuing It arrived at Flemingsburg six hours after the departure of Morgan

HAMILTON O, June 15—Vallandigham made his appearance at the copperhead district convention held at this place to day, and was received with great enthusiasm He spoke briefly from written documents, narrating his arrest, defending his course and denouncing as false the assertion of the President that he was arrested because he labored to prevent the raising of troops and encouraged the desertion of soldiers, and said

"I don't mean any longer to be the only man or party to be the victim of the arbitrary power of Abraham Lincoln If he seeks my life let him so declare, but he shall not again restrain me of my liberty except upon the process of law"

He denounced Burnside's order No 38, under which he was arrested, as being against the Constitution and laws and therefore invalid He persisted in his right to criticise the acts of the Administration, and cautioned his friends against acts of violence on his account but advised none to shrink from any responsibility, however urgent, if forced upon them He left for Dayton this afternoon, where it is understood he will speak to morrow

WASHINGTON June 16—The return of Vallandigham was on his own responsibility It is unknown whether any action will be taken concerning him or not.

CINCINNATI June 16—Vallandigham arrived at Dayton last evening There was no demonstration Considerable apprehension of trouble to day The people are very much excited The district convention at Hamilton appointed him delegate to the Chicago Convention

LOUISVILLE June 14—Officers from the front report that Wheeler made a raid on the railroad between Chattanooga and Sherman's army on Friday capturing six loaded cars and cut the telegraph The train going from Resaca to Chattanooga was interrupted and in retreating a torpedo, which had been placed on the track, exploded hurling the cars five or six feet from the track demolishing them—nobody was seriously injured

To night Wheeler made his appearance again on the road below Calhoun and damaged a considerable portion of the track, which has since been repaired

Men from the front report that our cavalry on a reconnoissance to the front found only a small body of rebel cavalry After a severe skirmish the enemy fell back across the Chattahoochee

Prisoners report the whole rebel army as being on the south side of the river and are determined to oppose the passage of our troops The river is much swollen No serious engagement can occur until it falls

CHICAGO June 15—The Memphis papers of the 13th gives the following account of Sturgis' defeat

On the 10th the expedition had been out nine days and met the enemy near Guntown The cavalry, which was five miles in advance first engaged the enemy but were overpowered and compelled to fall back three miles to Oldtown Creek where they were joined by infantry and artillery Here a large engagement lasting two hours occurred Our force was finally compelled to fall back in the direction of Ripley closely followed by the enemy A continual skirmish was kept up until we reached camp Fulton where another engagement ensued The road at this point is narrow and so muddy that it was impossible to move off the wagon train and artillery The enemy pressed our troops on all sides with superior forces The cavalry after a desperate fight were again compelled to fall back The infantry were thrown into confusion and were surrounded and a great portion of them were killed Of 18 pieces of artillery only four were brought off The greater portion of our wounded fell into the enemy's hands The rebel [illegible] the rear of Colliersville Our loss in killed and wounded is two thousand Loss of the enemy unknown supposed to be considerable Our cavalry suffered severely during the engagements and during the retreat

FORTRESS MONROE June 16—[illegible] to day in [illegible] the 18th corps under Smith [illegible] City Point and marched in the direction of Petersburg Kautz's cavalry attacked the entrenchments in advance of Petersburg and [illegible] carried the city They were supported by [illegible] Smith's corps [illegible] under [illegible] were marching in the direction of Petersburg [illegible]

[illegible] stream of [illegible] reports [illegible] making their way up James river [illegible]

Nothing [illegible] has been received from [illegible] of the 15th [illegible] a dispatch from Lee stating that Sheridan [illegible] by Fitzhugh Lee and Hampton [illegible] five hundred prisoners and leaving his dead and wounded on the field

A dispatch from Sherman dated 9 p m 16th only states the relative position of our force No serious engagement had yet occurred

(Signed) STANTON

NEW YORK June 17—The Star says Stanton received a dispatch from Sherman confirming the recent death of rebel Gen Polk

PHILADELPHIA June 16—President Lincoln arrived at the Continental Hotel to day He attended the Sanitary Fair this evening and briefly responded to a toast He said Grant is this evening in a position from which he can never be dislodged by the enemy until Richmond is taken He declared [illegible] rapidly pouring to Grant all the reinforcements necessary to capture Richmond

MARYSVILLE, June 22—Gold 200 Legal Tenders Fifty Cents

The World says that it is not now as it was when Presidents were re elected but now we have the corruption of numerous officers and vast patronage Verily, a Daniel come to judgment! Who corrupted the politics of this country? Who made success in an election the test of merit? Who has ostracised private virtue and public service from the places of honor and profit? Who has been thirty years trafficking with Southern slave holders and Northern mobs? Who had sunk so low that even the negro drivers would not associate with them? Who elected a succession of Presidents, representing nothing but the imbecile and depraved portion of the nation—Polk poor Pierce, and that impersonation of weakness and disgrace, James Buchanan? Is it strange that when a new party came into power, they should follow some of bad precedents? We may regret it, we may lament our practices which have corrupted the Government, but we shall not mend the case by discharding an honest President to bring in a new one attended by hungry swarms of partisans

THE ROAD TO HILLSBORO—Complaint is made of negligence on the part of the supervisor of the road from the top of the canyon to the Plains and Hillsboro We are informed that it is in a wretched condition, and unless measures are at once taken to improve it, legal steps will be commenced to ascertain where the fault lies The road down the mountain beyond is reported as extremely dangerous

We notice in the show case at Hass' Jewelry store two goblets sent by Dr Loryea of Portland, one to be given to the best shot at a trial of the Marston Rifles on the 20th of this month and the other to be sold for the benefit of the Sanitary Commission They are beautifully engraved with appropriate mottoes, and constitute generous and appropriate gifts.—Statesman

INSTALLATION EXERCISES.—The installation of the officers elect of the Most Worshipful Grand Lodge of Masons of Oregon, was attended by a large body of the fraternity, and a concourse of citizens, at the M. E. Church, in this city, yesterday afternoon. The occasion was fraught with great interest throughout, from the formation of the procession at Masonic Hall, which marched up Front street to Taylor street, thence to the Church, headed by the Mechanics' Brass Band, numbering about 100 members of the various degrees in the appropriate regalia of their order. A splendid oration was delivered by Hon. A. Holbrook, who performed the office of installation to Mr. McCraken, G. M., after which the latter gentleman officiated in like duties to the remaining officers elect, as follows: A. A. Smith, D. G. M.; A. VanDusen, S. G. W.; O. S. Savage, J. G. W.; Geo. A. Edes, G. Treas; J. E. Harford, G. Sec. The singing of odes, attending these exercises, were most happily executed, by volunteers from the various Church choirs of the city, and had a salutary effect upon the imposing service, aided by the prayers of the Chaplain. The time occupied at the Church was about two hours, when the congregation dispersed, feeling very much better at heart, it not wiser in mind, regarding the ancient order of Free Masonry.

IRREGULARITIES IN PORTLAND.—As citizens we are undoubtedly about as regular in our manners as the best of American communities, but like Boston, Philadelphia or Washington we have our city plat dotted with an occasional circle, that relieves our ways of the sameness common to western cities, where every block is a twin brother of every other block, and where one street is like every other street in the city. In fact, so similar is the north part of our plat to the Cretan labyrinthe, it behooves parties rambling there, to carry a copy of the Directory with them, to avoid surprises, and unexpected mental concussions, when suddenly fetching up against a board fence, or running into a private parlor at the abrupt termination of a street, where least expected. The difficulty was attempted to be somewhat ameliorated in 1862, when the city Council took the subject up, and passed a straightener, Ordinance No. 125, which literally abolished ten streets, according to title in Couch's Addition, and made them over—designating them North Front street, North First street, etc. But the trouble still exists in many plats of the city, and quite recently we understand one of our most prominent real estate dealers "came within an ace" of sending one of the incorrect maps to San Francisco, to be lithographed on a large scale, for use in his office. The old drafts should be destroyed, because they are the source of much trouble and expense.

A CITY CHAIN GANG.—Officer Skidmore arrested an unruly customer up town yesterday, for drunkenness, and abuse of his wife, but he was afterwards released, without examination. Under the present circumstances many a culprit goes unfledged in this city, for no other earthly excuse than to save the corporation a bill of expense, and while it is absolutely necessary to punish, in some cases, we can see no reason why the Council should not provide for the emergency by ordinance, authorizing a chain gang. We have no public works to carry on, other than the improvement of streets, it is true, but at that, even, wife whippers, and those convicted of as mean crimes, could find profitable employment. Our city jail has been declared by the Grand Jury next thing to a nuisance, and the fresh air would be less compunctious to a disturber of the peace, that an incarceration within its walls.

CALIFORNIA STYLE.—We met an old friend in the street yesterday, looking rather "down in the mouth," and after shaking him by the hand we inquired the cause of his depression—as we understood that he had bought into a flourishing ditch company up country—the books of which showed a "rushing" business: "How gets on the company?" "Busted!" was the laconic reply. "Why; wasn't the business good? Wasn't the entries on the books genuine?" Here the gloom of our friend's face lighted up a little (for he will have his joke), and he replied: "No, sir; they were not; like the Mormons, I was deceived by false profits!"

THE GRIDLEY SACK OF FLOUR.—We have seen it. We were shown yesterday photographs of the famous Austin Sanitary Sack of Flour. In comparison with the sack of gain already yielded to the Commission, its size was not materially larger. The photo. of Gridley accompanies that of the two sacks, one he shoulders, the other he doesn't. An inscription, upon the back of these pictures, says the proceeds of sale are to be donated to the San. Com. by Geo. H. Johnson, photographer, 649 Clay st., California. McCormick of the Franklin Book Store has them for sale.

CIRCUIT COURT.—In the Circuit Court yesterday the case of Mrs. Burkhart was continued until the next term of Court. We were in error yesterday, in stating that the trial on Tuesday was Charles and Lucy E. Buckhart, the husband only was tried. The case of T. Carter vs. J. P. O. Lownsdale, occupied the time of Court several hours, when it was dentified.

OUT ON DRILL.—Company B, Capt. Mills, were out in street parade last evening, and went through with the double quick in fine style. We understand our military companies design having a display on the Fourth of July, on their own responsibility. We honor their patriotic impulses.

THE LAFAYETTE EXPRESS.—Mr. Howe returned from his third trip to Lafayette, with his Express passenger wagon, last evening. The route is reported as being highly practicable, could the roads but partially be improved, at present they are little more than passable.

ROBBING BIRDS NESTS.—The boys struck a new idea in the line of mischievousness, yesterday, and went busily at work to destroy the swallow nests, constructed during the recent freshet, under the eaves of a warehouse on Abernethy's wharf. The cruelty seemed unwarranted.

TREASURE.—Messenger Holland, of Wells, Fargo & Co.'s Express, arrived by the steamer Wilson G. Hunt last evening, having in charge $100,000. A similar amount arrived in the hands of passengers.

BEHIND TIME.—The steamer Vancouver did not leave until five o'clock last evening, in order to allow parties an opportunity to participate in the Masonic Installation, before returning to Vancouver.

THE steamship John L. Stephens, will most likely be pretty near Portland to-night. This calculation is regarded as being perfectly safe.

A Public Cemetery.

EDITOR OREGONIAN:

Noticing an article in your issue of the 20th inst., about a City Cemetery, I would say, I think with "Citizen" that the time has come when the city should locate, decorate and improve a cemetery, and such a one should be chosen [illegible] to avoid any regrets in the future as to the location of the same. The reasons why the cemetery on the East side of the river [illegible] on account of its [illegible], which [illegible] of the ground spoken of on the West side [illegible] by the city's [illegible] and individuals, a great deal been expended in trying to obtain a suitable site, and thus far without success, than the sum spoken of in the proposition now before the Council. The twenty-three and one-third acres spoken of includes the ground now used for cemetery purposes, and was enclosed and has been superintended by a former resident of the city at his own expense some years since, and on account of reasons before given, and the beauty of its location has met with favor from the public ever since, the number of persons there buried (some 500) of the early citizens of this city renders a change of location and consequent removal of their honored remains unreasonable.

The inconvenience and danger of crossing the river is inconsiderable, even at the present time; and as the city and county improve, the facilities for crossing with dispatch and safety must of necessity be proportionably increased. I hope to see the Ordinance pass, and believe I speak the sentiments of a great number of my fellow-citizens.

Thirteen years a resident of PORTLAND.

Complaints of Children.—In the case of fast-growing and scrofulous children, predisposed to curvatures and other deformities, it is often desgreeable to give a tonic without stimulants, and an alterative, without irritation. For such, it would be impossible to select a preparation combining so many of the above advantages as the PERUVIAN SYRUP.

Coughs and Colds.—The sudden changes of our climate are sources of PULMONARY, BRONCHIAL and ASTHMATIC AFFECTIONS. Experience having proved that simple remedies often act speedily when taken in the early stages of the disease, recourse should at once be had to "Brown's Bronchial Troches," or Lozenges, let the Cold, Cough, or Irritation of the throat be ever so slight, as by this precaution a more serious attack may be effectually warded off. PUBLIC SPEAKERS and SINGERS will find them effectual for clearing and strengthening the voice. Soldiers should have them, as they can be carried in the pocket, and taken as occasion requires.

In every age of the World, the professions have been slow to admit the value of new discoveries, or the expediency of adopting them in practice. It is not to the legal profession that we look for reforms in jurisprudence, neither do we find the advocates of medical reform among physicians. Each deprecates whatever is found to innovate upon received opinions and established usage. Hence the opposition which medical men too often exhibit to the use of private remedies, whatever their acknowledged value, or great efficiency in the cure of disease. No medicine has ever done more for the relief of human suffering than Dr. Osgood's India Cholagogue. The certainty with which it cures Fever and Ague, and eradicates bile from the system, is acknowledged by all.

Be particular to enquire for Dr. Osgood's India Cholagogue and take no other. Sold everywhere.

Dr. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters.—The operation of this palatable remedy upon the stomach, liver and excretory organs is singularly soothing and conservative. It regulates, recruits and purifies them. Dyspepsia in all its forms yields to its control and invigorating properties, and it is recommended to mothers, enfeebled by the care and duties of maternity, as the safest and best tonic they can probably use. In all the crisis of female life it will be found eminently useful, and elderly persons will derive much more benefit from it than from ordinary stimulants.—Sold by all Druggists and Dealers everywhere. ap26d1m

From the army hospital—the bloody battle-field—the mansion of the rich and humble abode of the poor—from the office and the sacred desk—from the mountain top, distant valleys and far-off islands of the ocean—from every nook and corner of the civilized world—is pouring in the evidence of the astonishing effects of DRAKE'S PLANTATION BITTERS. Thousands upon thousands of letters like the following may be seen at our office.

REEDSBURY, WIS., Sept. 15, 1863.
* * * I have been in the army hospitals for fifteen months—speechless and nearly dead. At Alton, Ill., they gave me a bottle of Plantation Bitters. * * * Three bottles restored my speech and cured me.

SOUTH WARSAW, O., July 25, 1863.
* * * One young man, who had been sick and not out of the house for two years with scrofula and Erysipelas, after paying the doctors over $150 without benefit, has been cured by ten bottles of your Bitters.
EDWARD WOUNALL.

The following is from the manager of the Union Home School for the Children of Volunteers:
HAVEMEYER MANSION, FIFTY-SEVENTH STREET, }
NEW YORK, August 2, 1863. }
"DR. DRAKE: Your wonderful Plantation Bitters have been given to some of our little children suffering from weakness, and weak lungs with most happy effect. One little girl, in particular, with pains in her head, loss of appetite, and daily wasting consumption, on whom all medical skill had been exhausted, has been entirely restored. We commenced with but a teaspoonful of Bitters a day. Her appetite and strength rapidly increased, and she is now well. * * * Respectfully, MRS. O. M. DEVOE."

* * * The Plantation Bitters have cured me of a derangement of the kidneys and urinary organs that has distressed me for years. It acts like a charm.
etc. etc. etc. etc. etc.

The Plantation Bitters make the weak strong, the languid brilliant, and are exhausted nature's great restorer. They are composed of the celebrated Calisaya Bark, Wintergreen, Sassafras, Roots, Herbs, &c. all preserved in perfectly pure St. Croix Rum.

S. T.—1860.—X.

Persons of sedentary habits troubled with weakness, lassitude, palpitation of the heart, lack of appetite, distress after eating, torpid liver, constipation, &c., deserve to suffer if they will not try them.

They are recommended by the highest medical authorities, and are warranted to produce an immediate beneficial effect. They are exceedingly agreeable, perfectly pure and harmless.

NOTICE.—Any person pretending to sell Plantation Bitters in bulk or by the gallon is a swindler and impostor. It is put up only in our patent log cabin bottle. Beware of bottles refilled with imitation deleterious stuff for which several persons are already in prison. See that every bottle has our private United States Stamp over the cork unmutilated, and signature on steel plate side label.

The National Debt of Great Britain

On the 10th of December 1692 the House of Commons resolved itself into a Committee of Ways and Means. Somers took the chair. Montague proposed to raise a million by way of loan; the proposition was approved, and it was ordered that a bill should be brought in. The details of the scheme were much discussed and modified, but the principle seems to have been popular with all parties. The moneyed men were glad to have an opportunity of investing what they had hoarded. The landed men, hard pressed by the load of taxation, were ready to consent to anything, for the sake of present ease. No member ventured to divide the House. On the 20th of January the bill was read a third time, carried up to the Lords by Somers, and passed by them without any amendment.

By this memorable law new duties were imposed on beer and other liquors. These duties were to be kept in the Exchequer separate from all other receipts, and were to form a fund on the credit of which a million was to be raised by life annuities. As the annuitants dropped off, their annuities were to be divided among the survivors, till the number of survivors was reduced to seven. After that time whatever fell in was to go to the public. It was, therefore, certain that the 18th century would be far advanced before the debt would be finally extinguished. The rate of interest was to be 10 per cent till the year 1700, and after that year 7 per cent. The advantages offered to the public creditor by this scheme may seem great, but were not more than sufficient to compensate him for the risk which he ran. It was not impossible that there might be a counter revolution, and it was certain that if there were a counter revolution, those who had lent money to William would lose both interest and principal.

Such was the origin of that debt which has since become the greatest prodigy that has ever perplexed the sagacity and confounded the pride of statesmen and philosophers. At every stage in the growth of that debt the nation has set up the same cry of anguish and despair. At every stage in the growth of that debt, it has been seriously asserted by wise men that bankruptcy and ruin were at hand. Yet, still, the debt went on growing, and still bankruptcy and ruin were as remote as ever. When the great contest with Louis XIV, was terminated by the peace of Utrecht the nation owed about fifty millions, and that debt was considered not merely by the rude multitude, not merely by the fox hunting squires and coffee house orators, but by acute and profound thinkers, as an incumbrance which would permanently cripple the body politic. Nevertheless, trade flourished, wealth increased, the nation became richer and richer. Then came the war of the Austrian Succession, and the debt rose to eighty millions. Pamphleteers, historians and orators pronounced that now, at all events, our case was desperate. Yet the signs of increasing prosperity, signs which could neither be counterfeited nor concealed, ought to have satisfied observant and reflecting men that a debt of eighty million was less to England which was governed by Pelham, than a debt of fifty millions had been to England which was governed by Oxford. Soon war again broke forth, and under the energetic and prodigal administration of the first William Pitt the debt rapidly swelled to a hundred and forty millions. As soon as the first intoxication of the victory was over, men of theory and men of business almost unanimously pronounced that the fatal day had now really come.

The attempt to lay a portion of the load on the American colonies, produced another war. That war left us with an additional hundred millions of debt, and without the colonies whose help had been represented as indispensable. Again England was given over, and again the strange patient persisted in becoming stronger and more blooming, in spite of all the diagnostics and prognostics of State physicians. As she had been visibly more prosperous with a debt of a hundred and forty millions than with a debt of fifty millions, so she was visibly more prosperous with a debt of two hundred and forty millions than a debt of one hundred and forty millions. Soon however, the wars which sprang from the French Revolution, and which far exceeded in cost any that the world had ever seen, tasked the powers of public credit to the utmost. When the world was again at rest, the funded debt of England amounted to eight hundred millions. If the most enlightened man had been told, in 1792 that, in 1815, the interest on eight hundred millions would be duly paid to the day at the bank, he would have been as hard of belief as if he had been told that the Government would be in possession of the lamp of Aladdin or of the purse of Fortunatus. It was in truth a gigantic, a fabulous debt; and we can hardly wonder that the cry of despair should have been louder than ever. But again that cry was found to have been as unreasonable as ever. After a few years of exhaustion, England recovered herself. Yet, like the valetudinarian who continued to whimper that he was dying of consumption till he became so fat that he was shamed into silence, she went on complaining that she was sunk in poverty till her wealth showed itself by tokens which made her complaints ridiculous. The beggared, the bankrupt society not only proved able to meet all its obligations, but grew richer and richer so fast that the growth could almost be discovered by the eye.

In every county we saw wastes recently turned into gardens; in every city we saw new streets and squares, and markets, more brilliant lamps, more abundant supplies of water; in the suburbs of every great seat of industry, we saw villas multiplying fast, each embosomed in its gay little paradise of lilacs and roses. While shallow politicians were repeating that the energies of the people were more borne down by the weight of public burdens, the first journey was performed by steam on a railway. Soon the island was intersected by railways. A sum exceeding the whole amount of the national debt at the end of the American war was in a few years, voluntarily expended by the ruined people in viaducts, tunnels, embankments, bridges, stations, engines. Meanwhile taxation was almost constantly becoming lighter and lighter, yet still the exchequer was full. It may be now affirmed without fear of contradiction, that we and it as easy to pay the interest of eight hundred millions as our ancestors found it eighty years ago, to pay the interest of eighty millions.

It may be desirable to add a few words touching the way in which the system of funding has affected the interests of the great commonwealth of nations. If it be true that whatever gives to intelligence an advantage over brute force and to honesty an advantage over dishonesty, has a tendency to promote the happiness and virtue of our race, it can scarcely be denied that in the largest view the effect of this system has been salutary. For it is manifest that all credit depends on two things, on the power of the debtor to pay debts, and on his inclination to pay them. The power of a society to pay debts is proportioned to the progress which that society has made in industry, in commerce and in all the arts and sciences which flourish under the benignant influence of freedom and of equal law. The inclination of a society to pay debts is proportioned to the degree in which that society respects the obligations of plighted faith. Of the strength which consists in extent of territory and in number of fighting men, a rude despot who knows no law but his own childish fancies and headstrong passions, or a convention of socialists which proclaims all property to be robbery, may have more than falls to the lot of the best and wisest government. But the strength which is derived from the confidence of capitalists such a despot, such a convention, can never possess. That strength—and it is strength which has decided the event of more than one great conflict—flies, by the law of its nature, from barbarism and fraud, from tyranny and anarchy, to follow civilization and virtue, liberty and order.

A Turkish Love Affair.—The modern laws of Crete do not reward female chastity, but they discountenance in a very singular manner any cruelty in females towards their admirers. While Dr. Clarke was on that island, an instance occurred in which the fatal termination of a love affair occasioned a trial for what the Mohammedan lawyers called "homicide by an intermediate cause." The case was as follows:—

A young man desperately in love with a girl at Stanchio, eagerly sought to marry her, but his proposals were rejected. In consequence of his rejection he bought some poison and destroyed himself. The Turkish police instantly arrested the father of the young woman as the cause, by implication, of the man's death. Under the fifth species of homicide, he became therefore amenable for this act of suicide. When the case came before the magistrate, it was urged literally by the accusers, that "if he the accused, had not had a daughter the deceased would not have fallen in love; consequently he would not have been disappointed; consequently he would not have swallowed poison; consequently he would not have died. But he, accused, had a daughter, and the deceased had fallen in love and had been disappointed, and had swallowed poison, and had died." Upon all these counts he was called upon to pay the price of the young man's life; and this being fixed at the sum of eighty piastres, it was accordingly exacted."

Transportation.—When the Twenty first Illinois Volunteers was organized, a fine looking man was chosen by the company officers as the Colonel, but having no military capacity the regiment fell into disorder and became the terror of the neighborhood where it was encamped. The Governor refused to commission the nominee of the regiment, and asked Grant if he thought he could bring the turbulent mass to order if he were appointed the Colonel. Grant thought he could. Half an hour afterward an application was made to Governor Yates to send a regiment to Quincy—one hundred and twenty miles distant, but the trouble with the Governor was not the lack of men, but the lack of transportation. "Send my regiment," said Grant—"and I will find the transportation." The command was given, and before night the regiment was under orders to march. On foot the regiment was transported to Quincy, and when the men were there encamped they were reported as belonging to one of the best disciplined regiments of Illinois Volunteers.—New York Times.

Height.—As to the effect of light and heat on stature, there is so much room for doubt, that flatly opposite conclusions have been come to on the subject. Zimmerman has argued from the size of the Patagonians and the ancient Germans, that the highest stature belongs to the colder regions of the temperate zone, while Blumenbach thinks we find taller men as we approach the tropics. There is nothing in either opinion. The short men of Tierra del Fuego live very near to the tall men of Patagonia, and the short men of Lapland live very near to the tall Finns and Swedes. In the matter of stature, as of color, descent must be considered to have far more influence than climate. Among animals it is found that some grow smaller in warm, others in cold climates.—The Bushmen and Kaffirs of Southern Africa preserve their peculiarities of stature and form, although their climate, pursuit and food are identical.

The Legs of Insects.—M. Delisle once observed a fly, only as large as a grain of sand, which ran three inches in half a second, and in that space it made the enormous number of five hundred and forty steps. If a man were to be able to run as fast in proportion to his size, supposing his steps to measure two feet, he would in the course of a minute have run upwards of twenty miles, a task surpassing our express railroad engines or the famous "Seven League Boots" recorded in the nursery fable. In leaping also, insects far excel man, or any other animal whatever. The fly can leap two hundred times its own length, so also can the locust. Some spiders can leap a couple of feet upon their prey.

The people of Wethersfield, Connecticut, famous for the amount and excellence of their onions, are busy now. They sold their onion seed last year at $3 a pound, and before the war at 42c. A year ago last fall it rose to 50c. Now it is $3 and $4! It "pays" at 50c. One house last season bought onion seed of a Hartford grower, at $4 a pound and retailed it at $5! The army demand for this bulbous root for sanitary purposes has made the price what it is.

Important Discovery, if true.—George Laird, of New Almaden, writes to the Reese River Reveille stating that he has discovered a substitute for blasting powder less dangerous and much cheaper, which can be made by any miner, at a cost of but two dollars and a half per keg. Mr Laird says that it is a chemical compound, mixed with sawdust—that a man can make twenty five kegs per day in a common stove boiler, and adds that he is now using it with great success in the New Almaden mines.

Shirt collars of linen, cotton, paper and steel are common, but to this catalogue are to be added shirt collars from vulcanized India rubber just patented in England, and which we have no doubt will soon be found at our India rubber establishments. The inventor states that suitable patterns may be painted or printed on the collar, either before or after they are cut from the sheet, and they may be made white or colored or embossed. Cuffs and wristbands are made also of the same material.

A submarine boat propelled by compressed air has been built at Rochelle, France. It is intended to pierce an enemy's vessel under water, leave a combustible shell on her side, and then to discharge it by means of electricity as the boat retires to a safe distance.

IODINE WATER.

IODINE WATER IS THE MOST IMPORTANT DISCOVERY of modern chemistry, and it is impossible to overestimate its influence as a remedial agent. Iodine has been considered the most useful article in Materia Medica and many of the most scientific and prominent chemists and physicians have investigated its effects upon the human system. It is to act upon the

HEART,
LIVER, KIDNEYS,
DIGESTIVE ORGANS AND GLANDULAR SYSTEM,

and to have great control over

SCROFULOUS AFFECTIONS.

Notwithstanding the zeal and ability which have been devoted to its investigation it remained almost useless until Dr Henry Anders, a physician and chemist of New York after years of patient labor and experiment discovered a chemical process which enabled him to dissolve without a solvent. This, considered impossible by the scientific world, is attested by certificates of analysis from Dr J R Chilton of this city and Prof Booth U S Mint Philadelphia. The importance of this discovery was so highly appreciated by the Faculty that it was published in the Medical Journals as the one recommended to practitioners (see American Medical Monthly," July 6, 1856, page 76.)

PURE IODINE IN PURE WATER

This valuable medicine is now available to the public for the cure of Scrofula in all its manifold forms Consumption Cancer Heart Liver and Kidney Diseases Rheumatism Neuralgia, Nervous Affections, Dyspepsia, Bronchitis, etc.

AS A TONIC

Its operation is evinced by strengthening the digestive organs and increased nutrition of the body is the result. If the employment of Iodine. The patient recovers flesh strength and color; hitherto pale, relaxed and feeble, he becomes full strong and florid.

HOSTETTER'S

CELEBRATED

STOMACH BITTERS.

THE OPERATION OF THIS PALATABLE REMEDY upon the stomach, liver and excretory organs is singularly soothing and conservative. It regulates, recruits and purifies them. Dyspepsia in all its forms yields to its control and invigorating properties.

Invigorate the System.

Vigorous digestion and pure bile produce nutritious blood, and nutritious blood a healthy frame. Does the victim of a dyspeptic stomach and a disordered liver desire to know how the digestion may be improved, the bile and other fluids of the body purified?

Dr. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters

Will accomplish this desirable revolution in the system regulating the secretions and excretions giving tone to the animal juices which dissolve the food, strengthen every relaxed nerve muscle and fibre, and brings the whole machinery of vitality into vigorous and healthful play.

Strengthen the System.

The best means of imparting vigor to the broken-down frame and shattered constitution which has yet been invented or discovered is proffered to the feeble of both sexes and all ages in

Dr. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters.

Debility from whatever cause arising may be cured, strength in whatever manner it may have been wasted may be restored by the use of this powerful and healthy invigorant. For indigestion and all its painful effects, bodily and mental they are a positive specific.

A word to the Aged.

In the decline of life the loss of vital force consequent upon physical decay can only be safely supplied by some vivifying preparation which recruits the strength and spirits without entailing the exhaustion which is always the final effect of ordinary stimulants. We tender to the aged

Dr. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters,

As an invigorant and restorative, immediate in its beneficial action and permanent in its effects. It frees the stomach, improves the appetite and acts like a charm upon the spirits.

For Females.

Thousands of ladies report to it as a remedy for hysteria, fluttering of the heart, nervous headache, vertigo, general debility, and all peculiar disturbances and derangements to which as a sex they are subject. It cheers and enlightens the depressed mental powers, as well as strengthens the body, and its use is never followed by any reaction.

BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS. Purchase only of reliable dealers. Sold everywhere.
